Social and Personal

In the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George W. Mayo, of No. 611 East Franklin Street, the wedding of Miss Louise Allen Mayo to Mr. H. Burton Gay, of Baltimore, was celebrated yesterday at 6 P. M., the Right Rev. Robert E. Gibson, assisted by the Rev. Robert E. Gibson, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, being the celebrant.

The marriage ceremony made a beautiful and impressive tableau. It was performed in the rear drawing-room of the Mayo home, where masses of stately palms, banked with white flowers and interspersed with white waxen tapers in silver candelabra, formed an effective background, against which pedestals, draped in white and holding silver vases of slender white flowers, stood out in clear relief. Professor Thilow's orchestra played the wedding marches, and during the reading of the marriage service, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden" and Schubert's "Serenade." Other selections followed.

The bride, a daughter of the gods, tall and divinely fair, was crowned in heavy white duchesse satin, rare old ancestral lace forming the corsage yoke and falling away from the elbow in the long elegant drapery. Orange blossoms held the delicate veil in place; bridal ornaments were pearls and diamonds, and the bridal bouquet was a shower of lilies of the valley. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. George D. Mayo.

She was attended by her maid of honor, Miss Leonie MacArthur Thomson, of Hartford, Conn., who wore pink mouseline and carried La France roses.

The groom's best man was Mr. S. P. Patterson, of Baltimore. Around the contracting parties, the maid of honor and best man, stood the ushers in a semi-circle. They were: Mr. Edmund V. Patterson; Mr. James Bartol, of Baltimore; Mr. Harrison McQuinn, of New York; Mr. Appleton, of Philadelphia; Mr. Thurgood Randolph Mayo, and Mr. Lewis Randolph Mayo, brothers of the bride.

After the wedding an informal reception was held, prior to Mr. and Mrs. Gay's leaving for their wedding trip.

Mrs. George W. Mayo, the bride's mother, who stood with the bride, was in black crepe de chine, with dull jet trimmings.

Miss Lila L. Mayo, in white crepe de chine, and white violets.

Miss Annie Howard, in white embroidered chignon, wore lace and pearls.

Mrs. Charles Willis, in gray brocade, relieved with white chiffon.

Miss Mary Howard, in pink silk with accordion-tatted chiffon.

Mrs. William H. Venable, of Norfolk, in pink panne crepe de chine, duchesse lace, and pearls.

Miss Lilla Richards, of New York, in pale blue velvet, transparent yoke.

Mrs. John B. Randolph, in white silk canvas with applique and hand-wrought embroidery.

Mrs. Edward Mayo, in Irish point lace over satin.

Miss Annie Wise Mayo, in white organdy and lace, green ribbon.

Mrs. William H. Venable, of Fredericksburg, in heavy black silk, lace and diamonds.

Among the other wedding guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Otway S. Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cameron, Miss Nellie and Anna Hopkins, Mrs. A. S. Buford, Mrs. Fitzhugh Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. J. Alston Cabell, Mrs. Ellen Wise Mayo, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Oppenheimer, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. S. Waring, Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Howard, Mr. John B. Randolph, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Billel and Mrs. Brinson Stone, of Washington; Dr. McKernon, of New York; Miss Bell Perkins, Misses Hayes, of Baltimore, and Mr. Edward Venable, of Norfolk.

The dining-room was in the white and green of lilies and palms, which prevailed elsewhere in house floral adornment, and was carried out in the color scheme of the table and in the lace. The punch bowl, encircled with greenery, was placed in the parlor and presided over by Mrs. William H. Venable.

A bewildering array of silver, cut glass, bric-a-brac and handsome articles of all kinds testified to the remembrance in which Mr. and Mrs. Gay were held by their friends. Mrs. Gay is well known as an acknowledged Richmond belle, one who will certainly be remembered from the place she adorned in Richmond society.

In going to Cleveland, Ohio, where she will make her home in future, she will add another name to the list of young Virginia matrons, representing the aristocracy and beauty for which the Old Dominion is famed.

Mr. Gay is a Cornell graduate in the class of '94, and is associated in business with one of the most prominent electrical firms in the United States. He is well to the front in his profession and occupies a fine position socially.

Graves--Harvie.

The marriage of Miss Mary Blair Harvie and Mr. Charles Marshall Graves took place in Grace Episcopal Church at 4 o'clock last night, the Rev. Dr. James McGhee officiating.

The church and aisles of the church were covered in white and palms, and white flowers made the altar and church adornment. Dr. McGhee directed the music, the bridal party entering to the bridal chorus from Lohengrin. The bride, "The Girl Like Unto a Flower" was played during the ceremony, and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride and groom, with their attendants, passed out after the ceremony.

The bridesmaids, led by the maid of honor, Miss Sara Harvie, and the dame of honor, Mrs. James E. Cannon, came from the vestry room to the main entrance door to meet the bride.

Miss Harvie was extremely handsome in white silk mull above silk, with her hair pinned back, and wore a lovely gown of violet crepe de chine, embroidered in orchids, and had a bouquet of orchids and maiden-hair ferns.

The bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Thomson, of Summit Point, Va.; Miss Walter Jeffress, Miss Daisy Chamberlayne, Miss Mary Waddell, Miss Nora Stratton, Miss Daisy Dickinson, Miss Margaret Lenke, Miss Fannie Dunn, of Bon Air; Miss Lillian Harvie, of Danville, and Miss Katherine Michaux. They had on white mull frocks and carried ferns.

The lovely young bride entered with her father. She was crowned in white embroidered chiffon on a liberty silk and white satin foundation, with a scarf trimmed with lace. Her hair was caught with orange blossoms and her bouquet was of brides' roses.

The groom came from the vestry with his best man, Mr. James Beverly Thomson, of Summit Point, Va.; Mr. C. E. Cannon, Mr. L. M. Scott, Mr. Charles O. Hearon, Mr. Robert Mitchell, Mr. Charles Grant, Mr. J. G. Hankins, Mr. Robert Hoskins, Mr. Thomas McAdams, Mr. Gordon Harvie and Mr. Singleton Walker.

A reception was held for the bridal party after the wedding in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Blair Harvie, of No. 112 South Third Street. The house was profusely decorated with rhododendrons, and an elegant wedding supper was served.

Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Graves left for a wedding trip to New York, Boston and Canada. When they return they will welcome their friends at No. 108 North Fourth Street.

The number of bridal gifts received was numerous, and the gifts were of the most beautiful description.

Manning--Grimes.

At the marriage of Miss Estelle Louise Grimes to Mr. Christopher Manning, Jr., which took place Wednesday at 8 A. M. in the home of the bride's father, Mr. J. B. Grimes, of No. 10 North Thirtieth Street, the Rev. Father H. A. McKeeffrey, of St. Patrick's Church, performed the ceremony.

Parlor and hall decorations in palms and roses were exceedingly handsome. Professor Lardella's orchestra rendered the wedding march and gave a fine programme before and after the ceremony.

The bride wore a handsome blue traveling costume and carried a shower of lilies of the valley. Her cousin and pollster in black-colored crepe de chine and carried pink carnations.

Mr. Henry C. Manning was his best man, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Manning was his best man, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Manning was his best man, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Manning was his best man.

Among those who witnessed the ceremony and partook of the sumptuous wedding breakfast were Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Wiley Davis, Miss Davis, Miss Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Crump, Mr. and Mrs. C. Lee Moore, Mrs. Hattie Curtis, Mrs. Lena Hawkes, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Davis, Colonel Morton Marye, Captain John A. Curtis, Hon. D. C. Richardson, Mr. Edgar Ferguson, Mr. John E. Ferguson, Major E. L. C. Scott, of Ashland; Mr. W. P. Knowles, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Shelton, City Sergeant James C. Smith, Joseph V. Treby, of Norfolk; Mr. William Jenkins, Mr. Peyton Baughman, Mr. W. T. Hancock, Mr. P. Willie Rafter, Mr. Henry J. Cohn, Mr. Simon Solomon, of Henrico; Mr. Clyde W. Saunders, Mr. George Channing Ruschell, Sergeant Matthews, Mr. Joseph Zimmer and Sergeant White.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents from friends in the State of Virginia and outside of it, an evidence of their great popularity and the high esteem in which they are held.

Logan--Hagerman.

A small wedding of Wednesday evening, April 29th, was that of Miss Elizabeth Hagerman, daughter of Mr. Thomas H. Hagerman, of Port Hope, Canada, to Mr. James H. Logan, the son of General and Mrs. T. M. Logan.

The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride, No. 6 West Twentieth Street, New York city, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan are now at "Algonquin," the country seat of the groom's parents.

Lanier--Faulkner.

Miss Mae Faulkner and Mr. Howard A. Lanier, of Lambert's Point, Va., were married quietly in the parlors of the Jefferson Hotel by the Rev. G. H. Spooner, of Trinity M. E. Church.

The only attendants were Miss May Cannon, of Morrie, Md., and Mr. S. S. Becker, of Norfolk. Mr. and Mrs. Lanier are now enjoying a Northern bridal trip.

before returning to their home at Lambert's Point.

Chappell--Jennings.

Miss Florence Jennings, a charming and popular young lady of this city, and Mr. David Chappell, of Dinwiddie county, who is at present a valued employee of the Richmond Locomotive Works, were married Tuesday in the home of the Rev. Dr. W. W. Lear, of No. 112 North Fifth Street.

The happy couple will make their future home in Richmond.

Stone--Godsey.

Miss Rosa May Godsey and Mr. Philip T. Stone were married Wednesday at 7:30 A. M. in the home of the bride, on West Main Street.

Bridal attendants were Miss Daisy G. Godsey, maid of honor, Mr. Robert H. Lee, best man, Mr. Roger Stone and Mr. Robert Godsey.

The bride had on a gray traveling costume. Her flowers were white roses. Her maid of honor was in white silk mull and carried carnations.

Personal Mention.

Miss Julia Anne Grant will leave today to spend the month of May at the Henry Clay Inn, at Ashland. She will be during June at the Mecklenburg Hotel in Chicago City, and will leave later in the summer for New York and Boston.

Much interest has been felt in Richmond over one of the prettiest weddings that has occurred since the end of Lent, which took place at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in old St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, Charles and Saratoga Streets, Baltimore. The bride was Miss Louise Hazell Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison, of Richmond Park. The groom was Mr. George Wolf Reilly, of Harleburg, Pa., where he is connected with a banking and trust company.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Winfree Hankins have returned from their bridal trip, and are at the Mount Vernon, No. 25 East Franklin Street.

Miss Katherine Michaux, who has been the guest of Mrs. Julius Lyness in Norfolk, returned to Richmond Tuesday.

GERMAN AT THE BAZAAR

A Most Attractive Event to Take Place There To-Night.

A. P. HILL CAMP WON FLAG

Result of the Contest That Closed Last Evening--Blues Battalion and Band
Out in Full Force--A Great Crowd.

To-Day's Programme.

May 1st.--Texas Day.

Afternoon from 4 to 6, the May Queen fete under the auspices of the ladies of the South Carolina table. The May queen will be little Miss Emily Triplett Montague.

Evening at 8:30. Full dress german in the ball room of the Masonic Temple for the benefit of the Texas table, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Blair.

The Blues Battalion and band made things lively last night at the Confederate Bazaar, and there was an immense crowd present.

The flag contest at the Solid South table closed at 10:30 o'clock, the handsome flag being won by A. P. Hill Camp, Petersburg, which received 532 votes to 213 for R. E. Lee Camp, of Richmond. The flag netted $61.30.

A handsome Singer Sewing Machine will be auctioned off at the Virginia table to-night. There was an auction last night at the South Carolina table and many articles were sold.

A handsome silver tea kettle is being voted off at the Maryland table. A number of chances are left.

The last dinner will be given at the Wayside Inn Saturday. Today pies and milk will be served for dessert.

The Museum of Freaks for the Florida table will be presented Saturday evening, with the entire cast present.

German To-Night.

The Bazaar events of to-day will be the May Day fete, to be given by the ladies of the South Carolina table, and the big german, led by Mr. and Mrs. Adolphus Blair, of the Texas table.

The little queen of the May festival will be Miss Emily Triplett Montague. The coronation ode will be sung by the West End Angels and the coronation ceremonies will be lovely and imposing.

The ladies of the table will spare no pains to render the fete a beautiful one. The archduchess in her robes of office, will be present to do the crowning, and all the children are cordially invited to come and join in the subsequent May Day festivities.

The german will be given in the ballroom of the Temple, and will be under the immediate direction of Mr. and Mrs. Blair, and a number of society women as patronesses. All of the pretty girls and society men in the town are interested, and the dance, with its floral figures and prizes, promises to be a great success.

Mr. John M. Walker, who has been managing the sale of the horse and runaway for the Maryland table, having been called out of town on business, the drawing is unavoidably postponed until next week.

Mrs. Wells' Booklet.

Among the most beautiful as well as most popular souvenirs of the Confederate Bazaar is the booklet designed by Mrs. Joseph Eastburn Wells, of Macon, Ga., who now lives in Petersburg, Va. The cover is of Confederate gray, with two golden eagles crossed, bearing dates 1861-1865. The first page inside contains that exquisite poem, "The Confederate Note," said to have been written on the back of a $500 bill by a gentleman from Mississippi and presented to a Richmond lady just after the war.

On the opposite page is a genuine Confederate note, varying in denomination from one to one hundred dollars. These booklets can be found at the Arkansas table, where they seem to have had ready sale. After the bazaar closes persons wishing to obtain them might do so by writing to Mrs. Wells. This table is presided over by Petersburg ladies.

Alabama Table.

The most enjoyable afternoon entertainment yet given at the bazaar was that of Wednesday, April 29th, under the direction of Mrs. N. C. Carrington, for the Alabama table, with the following programme:

Plattling the May pole, by Misses Mary Chalmers, Dorothy Christian, Linda Beveridge, Ellie Wingfield, Emily Montague.

Our stenographer thinks it is the easiest machine to operate that he has ever tried, and I take pleasure in recommending it to any one who is thinking of investing in a typewriter.

We have never been delayed in our work on account of the machine having to be repaired.

This letter is a sample of the work which the machine is doing, and we do not think that any other machine will do as well, age considered.

Yours very truly,
A. L. ADAMSON.

Meeting Postponed.

The Masonic Home Auxiliary called meeting for to-morrow is postponed until Tuesday at 4 o'clock P. M. in the Masonic Temple.

MANY BUILDINGS AT FORT MONROE

Secretary Root Approves the Recommendations of War College Board.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, April 30.--Before leaving for the West, Secretary Root approved the recommendation of the war college board for the construction of various buildings at army posts throughout the United States. The last session of Congress appropriated $5,000,000 for buildings and improvements, $1,000,000 of which was to be expended at Manila. The allotment of money for the construction of quarters and buildings is not made public at this time, the reason given being that such an announcement previous to the letting of contracts would cause bitter contests in different sections of the country.

The following construction has been recommended:

Fort Myer, Va., enlarging band barracks and wagon sheds, construction of shop and stable guard buildings for field artillery.

Chickamauga Park, Georgia, barracks and quarters for one squadron of cavalry.

Fort McPherson, Georgia, barracks and quarters for an additional battalion of cavalry.

The allotments for coast artillery include:

Fort Barrancas, Fla., two sets field officers' quarters, band barracks, company barracks, non-commissioned staff officers' quarters, buildings for shop and guard house.

Fort Caswell, N. C., quarters for officers, non-commission staff officers and hospital steward.

Key West Barracks, Fla., quarters for officers and non-commissioned officers.

Fort Scriven, Ga., quarters for officers and non-commissioned staff officers and a guard house.

Jackson Barracks, La., non-commissioned staff officers' quarters, lavatory, guard house and bakery.

Fort Getty, S. C., commissary storehouse.

Fort De Soto, Fla., officers' and non-commissioned officers' quarters.

Fort Dade, Fla., officers' and non-commissioned officers' quarters, mess-hall and kitchen.

Fort Monroe, Va., artillery school building, bachelor officers' quarters and several double sets of officers' quarters.
